GAS LEAK CAUSES METRO WASTEWATER TO EVACUATE FACILITY

Denver, July 13 — Because of a gas leak this afternoon at the Suncor refinery facilities in Commerce City adjacent to the Metro Wastewater Reclamation District's Central Treatment Plant at 6450 York Street, Metro's employees have been evacuated from the facility and sent home as a safety precaution.

Only essential operations, maintenance, and safety and security personnel remain at Metro's plant.

All Metro Wastewater Reclamation District employees are expected to report to work for their shift on time on Thursday morning.
